24th Annual Clinical Meeting

Issues and Answers in Pediatric and Adolescent Gynecology

The Westin Casuarina Hotel
Las Vegas, Nevada

April 15-17, 2010

Preliminary Program and Registration

Invitation

On behalf of the North American Society for Pediatric and Adolescent Gynecology, we would like to extend an invitation for you to attend the NASPAG 24th Annual Clinical Meeting, Issues and Answers in Pediatric and Adolescent Gynecology. The meeting this year is taking place in exciting Las Vegas, Nevada, April 15-17, 2010 at the Westin Casuarina.

The 2 ½ day meeting continues to incorporate a variety of our popular educational formats to bring you a balance of the essential topics in pediatric and adolescent gynecology and the latest concepts and research in pediatric and adolescent reproductive health. The mornings will start off with Breakfast symposia. Five plenary sessions are then complemented by our concurrent sessions, luncheon round tables, oral and poster abstract sessions. Our ever popular debates are back by overwhelming demand, focusing on surgical and medical controversies. To supplement the round table luncheons, our hot topic luncheon returns after its successful debut in 2009. Our International Forum and concurrent session on global reproductive health, address issues of pediatric and adolescent gynecology in developing countries, along with international perspectives on sexuality and sexual health.

Some highlights of the program this year include:

- Youth Internet Victimization: Myths and Truths by Michele Ybarra, MPH, PhD
- Dr. Sonia Grover's Plenary on Disorders of Sexual Development
- Preventing Obesity AND Eating Disorders in Adolescents: What Should Health Care Providers Know and Do – Diane Neumark-Sztainer PhD, MPH, RD
- Adriana Galván, PhD addressing Adolescent Brain Development and Risk Taking Behaviour
- Many of NASPAG's previous presidents are featured in the program, including Dr. Richard Reindollar, as a keynote speaker, focusing on Women with Turners Syndrome, Their Reproductive Options and Outcomes.

In order to reduce the amount of paper consumed in our syllabus this year, we have transitioned to providing electronic copies of our plenaries, workshops, and hot topic luncheon sessions. These resource materials will be available to registered attendees of the meeting, prior to the ACM in Las Vegas, beginning April 1, for those individuals who wish to print the materials to bring with them. In addition, a flashdrive containing the entire syllabus will be given to each attendee on site. This gives individuals the choice of printing material to bring to the meeting or bringing their personal computers and following along with the faculty electronically.

The Wine and Cheese reception on our opening night is an excellent opportunity to mix and mingle with NASPAG colleagues, new members and other attendees at the meeting. The meeting format allows plenty of opportunities for interacting, including protected time for discussions with other health care providers in special interest groups on preservation of fertility, care for adolescents with developmental disabilities, and for networking with colleagues in training, in nursing and for those involved in PAG fellowship programs. New members to NASPAG are invited to a reception on the Friday evening.

The NASPAG ACM meetings are fueled every year by the enthusiasm of the participants and the excellence of our faculty. We anticipate this year to be no exception. That combined with the exciting backdrop of the nightlife of Las Vegas, looks to be an astounding combination.

We look forward to seeing you in Las Vegas.

COURSE DETAILS

NEEDS ASSESSMENT

The 24th Annual Clinical Meeting of the North American Society for Pediatric and Adolescent Gynecology is designed for primary care physicians, specialists, nursing health professionals, and physicians in training whose practices include pediatric and adolescent female patients and/or whose practices include the gynecologic care of pediatric and adolescent patients. The course will consist of keynote sessions and concurrent presentations addressing critical issues in pediatric and adolescent gynecology, surgery, endocrinology and sexuality. The faculty and participants will interact in a variety of formats, including formal and informal group discussions, oral and poster sessions and lively debates in order to disseminate the latest information concerning pediatric and adolescent female patients.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this course, participants should be able to:

1. Develop an algorithm for diagnosis and treatment of patients with common and uncommon problems relevant to pediatric and adolescent gynecology.
2. Discuss recent research findings in HPV and gynecologic cytology, abuse, violence and sexual exploitation, menstrual and pubertal disorders in adolescents, pelvic pain, obesity and eating disorders, and general adolescent health issues including contraception, college health, and psychiatric disorders related to reproductive health.
3. Review basic and advanced issues in endocrinology, child abuse, violence and sexual exploitation, surgery, and adolescent health and gynecology as they relate to the pediatric and adolescent female patient.
4. Summarize approaches to diagnosis and management of abuse, violence and sexual exploitation in children and adolescent patients.
5. Critically assess current medical and surgical dilemmas in female adolescents.
6. Understand global reproductive health and emerging issues in pediatric and adolescent gynecology from an international perspective.

Kristi Mulcahey, MD

This session will describe the life cycle of the hair follicle, review the common androgen excess disorders in adolescents and explain appropriate treatment options for these conditions.

THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 2010 (continued)

12:00 noon FOOD FOR THOUGHT LUNCHEONS (lunch provided for all attendees)
RESERVATIONS ARE REQUIRED
(Space will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis)

- AL1 DUB in Adolescents Susan Coupey, MD
Elba Iglesias, MD
The learner will acquire clinical pearls in the management of DUB in the adolescent patient.
- AL2 Amenorrhea-Streamlining its Evaluation Gita Gidwani, MD
Marjan Attaran, MD
The learner will be able to apply a logical approach to the evaluation of amenorrhea and demonstrate how a streamlined approach can minimize the number of tests ordered.
- AL3 Dysmenorrhea in the Adolescent Diane F. Merritt, MD
Rachel Spitzer, BSc, MD, MPH
The learner will be able to discuss the common causes of dysmenorrhea and will have an approach to the current management of this common problem in teens.
- AL4 Getting to the Leading Edge: Becoming a Leader in Your Institution Walter Rosenfeld, MD
The learner will gain knowledge regarding current concepts in leadership and the ways to apply these in each individual setting.
- AL5 Integrating PAG into Private Practice Karen Kozlowski, MD
The learner will develop feasible and financially realistic strategies to incorporate PAG into private practice.
- AL6 Chronic Fatigue: The Adolescent Patient Who is Always Tired Robert T. Brown, MD
The learner will be able to distinguish the adolescent with pathological fatigue, initiate preliminary investigations and know when and where to refer.
- AL7 Is Puberty Really Getting Earlier? And Why? Frank Biro, MD
The learner will be able to describe current trends in the onset of puberty and the influence of environmental factors.
- AL8 Mullerian Anomalies Heather Appelbaum, MD
Joseph Sanfilippo, MD, MBA
The learner will become familiar with mullerian anomalies, their clinical presentation, necessary investigations and approach to their management.
- AL9 Reproductive Health Care in Developmentally Delayed Adolescents Elisabeth Quint, MD
The learner will appreciate the specific needs of the developmentally delayed adolescent and the approach to their reproductive care.
- AL10 New Drugs that Teens Know and Share Ellen Rome, MD
The learner will become familiar with current trends in illicit and recreational drug use among adolescents and learn strategies for their detection and management.
- AL11 The beta HCG is Positive! How do I Approach Decision Making with my Teenage Patients? Monica O'Donohue
Joley Johnstone, RN, BSN
The learner will appreciate the possible adolescent reactions to the news of a pregnancy and will acquire a developmentally appropriate non-leading, non-judgmental approach to teenage decision making around pregnancy.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT LUNCHEONS (continued)

- AL12 Vaccine Updates Amy Middleman, MD, MPH, MSED
The learner will be able to counsel adolescents and their families on the latest in vaccines.
- AL13 When Parents Don't Want their Daughters on the Pill Marjorie Greenfield, MD
The learner will learn educational techniques for parents regarding acceptance of OCPs.
- AL14 My Patient Just Came Out to Me in the Office: What Do I Need to Know Daryl Lynch, MD
The participants will be able to discuss sexual orientation with their patients with increased comfort and confidence and to adapt their history, physical exam, testing and anticipatory guidance to ensure best care practices for the gay youth patient.
- AL15 Innovative Approaches to Education in PAG Nathalie Fleming, MD
The participant will learn pearls to optimize teaching opportunities in the clinical and training settings.
- AL16 Ovarian Cysts from the Neonatal Period to Pubescence Jennifer Dietrich, MD, MSc
The learner will learn approaches to the diagnosis and management of ovarian cysts through the lifespan from the neonate to the pubertal female.
- AL17 Endometriosis, Adenomyosis, and Adenomyomas in the Adolescent Samantha Pfeifer, MD
The learner will understand the pathophysiology of endometriosis in adolescents and will be able to counsel the adolescent on the options for treatment.
- AL18 Subtle Signs of Eating Disorders in Teens: Detection and Diagnosis Franziska Baltzer, MD
The participant will recognize a spectrum of presentations of eating disorders in adolescent patients and plan for the initial steps in the diagnosis and management.

HOT TOPICS LUNCHEON

(lunch provided for all attendees)
